Event Report: World Intellectual Property Day Celebration

Title: IP and SDGs: Building Our Common Future with Innovation and Creativity

Date: 26, April 2024

Time: 2:30 PM

Venue: Google meet (online)

The world intellectual Property Day celebration on theme "IP and SDGs: Building Our Common Future with Innovation and Creativity" Was organized by IIC (Industry Innovation cell) and the Industry Institutional cell at Laureate Institute of Pharmacy Kathog. The event aimed to create awareness about Intellectual property rights (IPR) and Patents and their role in Promoting Innovation and Creativity. It provided an opportunity for students to learn from experts in the field and engage in discussion regarding intellectual Property.

Objective of the Event:

Awareness of Intellectual Property Rights: Educating participants about different types of IP rights, including patents, copyrights, trademarks, and industrial designs. Understanding these concepts is crucial for protecting innovations and creative works.

Linking IP to Sustainable Development: Exploring how effective IP management can contribute to achieving the SDGs, such as quality education, decent work, economic growth, industry innovation, and more.

Fostering a Culture of Innovation: By understanding IP rights, students and innovators can be encouraged to develop new ideas and solutions confidently, knowing their intellectual effort is protected.

Engagement with Experts: Providing a platform for students to interact with professionals in the field of IP, gaining insights into real-world applications and the latest trends in IP management.

Interactive workshops focused on practical aspects of filing patents, handling IP disputes, and leveraging IP for business and research.

Given her involvement with the Women Scientist Scheme, Ms. Kukreti was uniquely positioned to address the challenges and opportunities associated with increasing female participation in science and technology. Her insights were especially pertinent to discussions on creating more inclusive and equitable systems for IP management, which is essential for motivating a diverse range of innovators.

During the event, Ms. Kukreti effectively guided conversations among panelists to explore how intellectual property can support achieving the SDGs, such as SDG 5 (Gender Equality), SDG 9 (Industry, Innovation, and Infrastructure), and SDG 17 (Partnerships for the Goals). Her facilitation skills were instrumental in ensuring that the discussions not only remained aligned with the theme but also were dynamic and insightful, allowing participants to delve into practical strategies for leveraging IP for social and economic advancement.

Moreover, by highlighting the critical role of women in science and technology, Ms. Kukreti reinforced the need for policies that support women's access to and control over intellectual property. She brought attention to the pivotal contributions of women scientists and innovators in driving sustainable development, thereby advocating for targeted interventions to overcome the gender gap in these fields.

Overall, Ms. Kukreti's contributions as a moderator were crucial in making the event a comprehensive platform for discussing how intellectual property, combined with a focus on sustainable and inclusive growth, can build a common future marked by greater innovation and creativity.
